The quarter horse team had been on the home ranch since August 2012 and were all healthy on arrival three weeks ago.

Horses were kept in vinyl sided stalls, could not easily touch noses through stalls.

Stalls to the left contained Percherons (another team, presently under a hold order) but were moved during the first week.

The exposed team had no neighboring horses for two weeks.

The affected quarter horse exhibited no clinical signs until Sunday afternoon (1/27).

Remaining 6 horses in the quarter horse team are having their temperature monitored twice daily and have nasal swab and whole blood PCR tests pending.
